

The Most Luxurious Newsletter

The word on everyone's lips is that the most luxurious party of the season took place in Manhattan's most notorious family's mansion. The young society elite flocked to the home of the outrageous Penelope Hayes for an evening of drinks, dancing and fine dining.

Each guest reportedly received a 'Luxe Pack', containing everything they could possibly want to party the night away in style. Through the work of an undercover reporter, we managed to sneak a peak at one of the packs. Containing an invitation, an exclusive character biography, a character family tree, a calling card, and a gift, the Luxe packs will be this seasons must have.

Our undercover cameraman managed to capture some exclusive shots as Penelope Hayes (and co.!) strived to prepare in time. Shocking revelations have come to light from these photos, as Henry Schoonmaker himself receives his very own Luxe pack, who is the mysterious male? Could there be another gorgeous Schoonmaker in the making?

The hostess herself, Penelope Hayes has come under fire, as two child labourers are discovered cleaning her mansion in preparation for the party. 'They said they had passports!' The heiress yelled, as she was faced with a fine this morning.
